CALIFORNIA TRANSPORTATION COMMISSION APPROVES $487 MILLION FOR STATEWIDE TRANSPORTATION IMPROVEMENTS

Stockton – The California Transportation Commission today announced it has funded $487 million for 82 construction projects to improve transportation, safety, and mobility across California.

“The California Transportation Commission is taking action to improve transportation, safety, and mobility from Del Norte to San Diego County,” said California Transportation Agency Secretary Brian Kelly. “These construction projects put people to work and improve the quality of life for millions of Californians.”

“California is investing in transportation infrastructure to support regional job growth and improve the state’s mobility for years to come,” said Caltrans Director Malcolm Dougherty.

The allocations include $169 million from Proposition 1B, a 2006 voter-approved transportation bond. To date, more than $16 billion in Proposition 1B funds have been put to work statewide. The remaining $318 million in allocations today came from various state and federal transportation accounts.

Highlights of the funding allocations include:

- $1.178 million for a bridge maintenance at the Little Potato Slough Bridge on State Route 12 (SR-12) near Terminous and the overhead connector from westbound SR-120 to northbound Interstate 5 near Manteca. The projects will replace bearing pads and joint seals, which will both maintain and extend the service life of the bridges.
