Dear Ms. Erickson;

I am writing that I reviewed the revised document on the affordable sales program, but I am still unclear on whether or not my children can inherit the house if I should pass away. There is no clear explanation if in the event anyone should die after the purchase of the CalTrans home and what happens to the property. This is very important to me because of my daughter Maria who is disabled.

I have lived in my residence for 45 years now, and Maria has lived in this home all her life. If anything should happen to me, I would want my child Maria to continue to be cared for by her other sisters because this is the only home she has ever known. The trauma of losing her mother would be devastating enough but to be uprooted or relocated would be traumatic to her.

In addition to living in this community this length of time, I live among very close knit neighbors who have become like family to me in that I know their children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren. I have six children of my own, four grandchildren and four great children who have all been a part of this home that I have created for them.

I have been, and continue to be, an 'active member' of my church. My family and I have very close spiritual ties to my pastors and my brothers and sisters in Christ. They love my daughter Maria very much.

I have been a tenant in good standing these past 45 years and I pray that you will offer me the opportunity to purchase my home and to keep it in my family for generations to come.

Sincerely,

Maria L. Crespo
