Date of Bid Opening: 03/04/2015

Response to Protest of Bid Submitted by Golden State Bridge, Inc./Obayashi Corporation, Joint Venture

Dear Mr. McMillan:

This firm represents California Engineering Contractors, Inc./Silverado Contractors, Inc., JV ("CEC/Silverado"). We are writing to respond to a March 10, 2015, letter from Robert Leslie, the lawyer for Golden State Bridge, Inc./Obayashi Corporation ("GSBI/OC".) Mr. Leslie's letter protests the award of this project to CEC/Silverado despite the fact that GSBI/OC's bid would cost the Department of Transportation $11,358,255 more than the bid that CEC/Silverado submitted.

In his letter, Mr. Leslie mistakenly asserts that CEC/Silverado did not include a special power of attorney for its representative's signature. In fact, CEC/Silverado did provide a special power of attorney prior to the deadline for the acceptance of bids. That power of attorney is part of the materials that may be viewed on the Department's website. A copy is also enclosed.

Even if the power of attorney had not been included, however, GSBI/OC's arguments would be without merit, because: (1) CEC/Silverado included a valid and enforceable bid bond with its bid; and (2) the president of California Engineering Contractors, Inc., the managing member of CEC/Silverado, has actual, ostensible, and apparent authority to execute the bid documents for the joint venture.

CEC/Silverado included a bid bond that was signed by both the surety's representative and a representative of the joint venture. The signatures on the bond are notarized. The bid submitted by CEC/Silverado therefore was valid and binding, and the Department has the authority to accept CEC/Silverado's bid. Menefee v. County of Fresno, 163 Cal. App. 3d 1175 (1985) (although bid was not signed, bid was enforceable because it was accompanied by a bid bond); Bay Cities Paving & Grading, Inc. v. City of San Leandro, 224 Cal. App. 4th 1181 (2014).

CEC/Silverado's bid is enforceable even without the special power of attorney that CEC/Silverado provided. The relationship of joint venturers is that of a mutual agency, akin to a limited partnership. Engineering Service Corp. v. Longridge Inv. Co., 153 Cal. App. 2d 404, 415 (1957). "Each joint venturer has authority to bind the others in making contracts reasonably necessary to carry out the enterprise." Smalley v. Baker, 262 Cal. App. 2d 824, 837 (1968); Orlopp v. Willardson Co., 232 Cal. App. 2d 750, 754 (1965).

The president of California Engineering Contractors, Inc., therefore has authority to bind his company, which is the managing member of CEC/Silverado, and hence CEC/Silverado as well. A "president, as corporate representative, may execute contracts to bind the corporation. The executive officer of a corporation is more than an agent. He acts and speaks for the corporation in furthering its express objects." Moore v. Phillips, 176 Cal. App. 2d 702, 709 (1959). This rule has long been the law:

> The president of a corporation, as the agent and corporate representative, has the power, in the ordinary course of business, and in furtherance of the corporate interests, to execute contracts and to bind the company in so doing. He is, by virtue of his office, recognized as the businesshead of the company, and any contract pertaining to the corporate affairs, within the general powers of such officer, executed by the president on behalf of his corporation, will, in the absence of proof to the contrary, be presumed to have been done by authority of the corporation.

Grummet v. Fresno Glazed Cement Pipe Co., 181 Cal. 509, 513 (1919).

Mr. Leslie ends his letter by arguing that CEC/Silverado did not engage in reasonable efforts to obtain DVBE participation because CEC/Silverado did not place an ad on the Department's website. However, Mr. Leslie fails to identify any law or provision of the contract that requires bidders to advertise in this fashion.

The Notice to Bidders states that "the Department establishes no DVBE Contract goal but encourages bidders to obtain DVBE participation." (Emphasis supplied.) Section 2-1.15C(1) of the Specifications similarly "encourages" bidders to obtain DVBE participation, but also requires compliance with Military & Veterans Code Sections 999 et seq., which does not discuss good faith efforts or advertisement by contractors. Finally, Section 2.115C(1) calls for "necessary and reasonable steps to ensure that DVBEs have opportunity to participate," without describing what these steps are. Thus, unlike on some projects, the bidding documents do not mandate that prime contractors document "good faith efforts" or to take specific actions, such as placing advertisements on particular websites.

CEC/Silverado took reasonable steps to provide opportunities to DVBE bidders. CEC/Silverado representatives attended the Mandatory Pre-bid meeting on August 21, 2014, and manned a table for DVBEs to come by and talk to them about bidding opportunities. CEC/Silverado actively solicited quotes from DVBE firms for the abrasive blasting work, the only work that CEC/Silverado could subcontract, and they also asked DVBE truckers to provide them with quotes. Please see the copies of materials enclosed. These active and directed efforts were far more likely to develop DVBE participation than placing a boilerplate ad on a website.

CEC/Silverado's bid is fully responsive, and CEC/Silverado complied with all requirements concerning opportunities for DVBE participation. CEC/Silverado therefore respectfully request that the Department deny GSBI/OC's protest and award Contract No. 04-13524 to CEC/Silverado, at a savings of $11,358,255 over GSBI/OC's bid. CEC/Silverado values the strong relationship that it has built with the Department on the current Bay Bridge project and looks forward to the opportunity to work with the Department again. Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Very truly yours,

JANETTE C. LEONIDOU

Dear Saif,

It was a pleasure speaking with you about the Caltrans project to remove and salvage elements of the SF Oakland BayBridge.

I am attaching a copies of our capabilities statement and our California Department of General Services DVBE and SBE certifications. We hold a California Contractor's "A" LIcense as well as local certifications for Local Business, Small Business and Very Small Business from San Francisco, Alameda County, the Port of Oakland and the Federal Government. Our Caltrans Bidder ID Number is: VC1500002628.

SDV Services is signatory with the Ironworkers, Local 378.

While our company is fairly new, our ownership and management team have over sixty years of collective heavy lift rigging, transport, erection and installation work experience. I am a former co-owner of Rigging International, which was sold to the Sarens Group of Belgium is 2009.

SDV Services, Inc.'s recent work experience includes crane and rigging services to Anvil Builders of San Francisco, Ports America and the Port of Oakland; Fueling Service to Professional Tree Services and Skanska: Equipment Rental Services to Anvil, Skanska, ABSL, Pacific Highway Rentals and others; and ship repair and equipment rental to the US Coast Guard.

While I was a principal and owner of Rigging International, we performed several Caltrans contacts including repair of the Bay Bridge following the 1989 Loma Prieta Earthquake and recabling of the Rio Vista Bridge.

As I mentioned, our office and yard are both located in Alameda, adjacent to the Posey Tube, so we are very close to the work.

We look forward to being of service to CEC and welcome any further inquiries which you may have.

Very truly yours,

(Rochelle, please forward this to Seth and also the Project Manager for the Bay Bridge phase you're currently working on. Thank you, Rochelle)

We would like to bid the Temporary Drain Inlets for the subject project. Given that your company has the current phase of the project, I thought you would be the best source for getting a read on the drains.

1) Are they all on the surface of the roadway?
2) Are they all the same size?
3) Are there any side drains or locations other than in the roadway?
4) If there are any other issues associated with the drains, please point them out.

Thank you very, very much!
